About KPMG Learning Services

At KPMG Learning Services, we believe that lifelong learning is the only way to address the opportunities and challenges that the future of work will bring.

That's why we formed our Learning Services practice, with dedicated learning expertise across design, delivery, technology, governance and measurement. Our goal is to inject pace into our clients' upskilling and reskilling plans, helping them to improve both performance and productivity.

We've been recognised as one of the world's top 20 learning services companies in each of the last three years, as well as formal accreditation from the Learning and Performance Institute (LPI) as a leader of learning provision and technology¹.

We currently work with over 600 organisations, delivering everything they need to service almost a million individual learners in the UK. Our team combines learning expertise with all the assurance, rigour and commitment to continuous improvement expected of a professional services firm.

Learning content that delivers high quality outcomes

At the heart of our Learning Services offer is cutting-edge learning content. This is how we link learning directly to business goals – helping clients to build their workforce capability and create a culture that supports both individual development and organisational performance.

Our in-house team comprises instructional designers, content developers, visual designers, project managers and multimedia production experts. They collaborate to produce seamless self-directed and facilitated learning experiences that blend the best of digital, virtual and face-to-face content, alongside social learning and interactive activities, such as hackathons.

All our content focuses on relevance, impact and supporting learners to apply knowledge and skills back in the workplace. We ensure our content is fully accessible and designed for true inclusion, so that individuals can see themselves reflected in diverse and relatable activities.

In this catalogue, you can browse the available learning and see how we're building skills, capability and confidence on the ground.

Learning content for your workforce

Our wide-ranging learning offer focuses on areas where KPMG has deep subject-matter expertise such as operating model transformation; internal controls; and risk and regulation – as well as topics such as technology and digital; leadership and management; and ESG (environmental, social and governance).

To ensure you have the right learning content for your organisation, there are several options available:

All our learning content can be licensed to organisations as entirely off-the-shelf products. You may choose to purchase an individual product or seek our support with a suite that can meet all your training needs.

Alternatively, our learning content can be contextualised, whether that be through using relevant, real-life case studies from your business; referring to internal processes or systems; or deploying your branding, phraseology and tone of voice. This allows you to deploy learning that feels bespoke for your organisation, while benefiting from KPMG's learning products.

We also offer a bespoke service where completely new products can be designed to meet your specific requirements.
